

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An emitter switching configuration having at least one bipolar transistor and a MOS transistor having a common conduction terminal and a Zener diode inserted between a control terminal of the bipolar transistor and the common conduction terminal. A monolithic structure is also provided that is effective in implementing the emitter switching configuration.

856063.761/446571_1.DOC